

Project	Development of a Concept for Buffer Zones, Trier
Commissioned by	Generaldirektion Kulturelles Erbe Rheinland-Pfalz
Execution	Since 2017
	Trier is the only north of the Alps city, in which until today main components of a Roman city system are preserved and comprehensible. In Trier and the surrounding area, various monuments dating back to the Roman period of the city were included in the UNESCO World Heritage List in 1986. In the meantime, the establishment of buffer zones has become an explicit requirement due to the Operational Guidelines for the Implementation of the World Heritage Convention. Consequently, a buffer zone now has to be defined for the Trier World Heritage site. At the same time, due consideration must also be given to the present intensive discussions in Trier about how to densify different parts of the urban area in order, among other things, to meet the current high demand for housing. In the course of defining the future buffer zone in Trier, it is important to avoid conflicts with tasks central to the urban development of Trier. At the same time, an effective instrument should be created to secure the Outstanding Universal Value of Trier's unique Roman heritage.
